“Two Day’s Workshop on Research Methodology & Field Project Guidance.”

Date	: 8 th September 2025 and 9 th September 2025
Time	: 10.00 am to 12.00 pm
Venue	: Class Room No. 20 and Mini Auditorium (Day 2)
Collaboration (If any)	: -
Coordinator	: Commerce and Management Departments.

Introduction:

The Department of Commerce and Management organized a Two-Day Workshop on Research Methodology and Field Project Guidance to equip students with essential knowledge of research processes, techniques, and ethical practices. The workshop aimed to strengthen research aptitude, enhance understanding of systematic inquiry, and provide students with guidance for their upcoming field projects.

The inaugural session began with dignitaries on the dais, including Asst. Prof. Sarita Goyal (Vice Principal, Commerce & Management), Dr. C. D. Sonawane (Vice Principal, Science), and the distinguished Guest Speaker, Dr. Lalit Kanore.

Objectives:

- 1 To provide participants with a clear understanding of research methodology, including research design, objectives, hypothesis framing, and ethical considerations.
- 2 To develop skills in identifying suitable tools, techniques, and data collection methods required for academic research and field projects.
- 3 To guide students in preparing field projects across diverse domains such as cost and works accounting, banking and finance, and marketing & salesmanship.
- 4 To enhance students’ ability to critically analyze literature, recognize research gaps, and apply appropriate methodologies.
- 5 To bridge the gap between theoretical learning and practical application of research skills in their academic projects.

Detailed Report:

The first day of the Two-Day Workshop on Research Methodology and Field Project Guidance, organized by the Department of Commerce and Management on 8th September 2025, commenced with a Saraswati Puja, followed by the welcome of guests and the felicitation of the Chief Speaker, Dr. Lalit Kanore, by Dr. C. D. Sonawane.

Dr. Lalit Kanore, an eminent academician and researcher, conducted an interactive and insightful session on Research Methodology as part of the first day of the workshop. He began by explaining the importance of a literature review, emphasizing its role in identifying research gaps, preventing duplication, and providing a strong theoretical foundation. He then discussed the concept of research design, elaborating on its various types and their significance in systematically structuring any research study.

Moving forward, Dr. Kanore provided clarity on the formulation of objectives and hypotheses, explaining how they serve as guiding tools in research. He also introduced participants to different tools and techniques of research, such as qualitative and quantitative approaches, including the use of questionnaires, surveys, interviews, and statistical methods. Additionally, he explained various data collection methods, highlighting the importance of both primary and secondary sources with practical examples. A detailed explanation of variables and their types—independent, dependent, and extraneous—was also provided, supported by illustrations.

The session further covered measurement scales such as nominal, ordinal, interval, and ratio, each explained with relevant examples to ensure clarity. Dr. Kanore also stressed the importance of defining the scope and limitations of a research project to maintain realistic boundaries. Finally, he shed light on the ethical considerations in research, focusing on integrity, plagiarism, and the necessity of informed consent. The session was highly engaging and enabled students to gain both theoretical knowledge and practical insights into the research process, thereby enhancing their preparedness for academic projects.

Session by Dr. Hansraj Thorat – Cost and Management Accounting

Dr. Hansraj Thorat emphasized the importance of Cost Accounting in business and management decision-making. He explained fundamental concepts including costing, cost account, and cost accountancy, along with different methods of costing, techniques, and tools used in the field. He guided students on the purpose of on-the-job training projects and explained various disciplines and phases of research.

Dr. Thorat also provided general guidelines about field projects, suggested topics relevant to cost accounting, and explained how to choose the right topic based on student interest and scope. He gave detailed insights into the structure of a cost and management accounting project, covering elements such as data collection, data analysis, presentation, writing style, and formatting. In addition, he offered practical tips for viva-voce preparation, ensuring that students are well-prepared for evaluation.

Session by Dr. Rita Mukund Kakade – Banking and Finance

Dr. Rita Kakade conducted a session on Banking and Finance field project guidance, where she explained the importance of undertaking projects in the banking and financial sector. She highlighted how such projects help students understand real-time financial operations, banking services, and decision-making processes in financial management.

She suggested potential topics for banking and finance projects and guided students on how to select appropriate topics that align with industry needs and academic requirements. Dr. Kakade elaborated on the structure of banking and finance projects, detailing the process of data analysis, presentation of findings, and effective report writing and formatting. Her session provided clarity on connecting classroom learning with practical financial practices.

Session by Dr. Ripal Madhani – Marketing & Salesmanship

The final session was conducted by Dr. Ripal Madhani, who guided students on Marketing and Salesmanship projects. She began by explaining what a marketing project is and why it holds significance, particularly in understanding consumer behavior, market strategies, and brand positioning.

Dr. Madhani suggested relevant and contemporary topics in marketing, provided tips on choosing the right project topics, and explained the structure of a marketing project. She also discussed key aspects such as data collection, data analysis, result presentation, and formatting techniques. Emphasis was placed on writing style and clarity of presentation, enabling students to showcase their analytical abilities effectively in projects. Her session also highlighted the importance of creativity and practical applicability in marketing research.
