Coordinator	: Asst. Prof. Priya Janjalkar (B.Sc. CS) Asst. Prof. Amruta Joshi (B.Sc. AI/ML) Asst. Prof. Madhuri Dhavan (B.Sc. IT) Asst. Prof. Aparna Bhamare (B.Sc. Cyber Security)

Introduction:

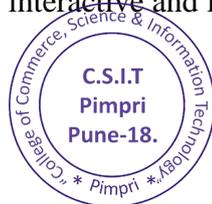

The Value Added Course on MySQL was conducted to provide students with fundamental knowledge and practical skills in database management. The course introduced key concepts such as database design, data manipulation, and SQL queries. It helped students gain hands-on experience with MySQL and enhanced their understanding of real-world database applications, supporting their academic and professional development.

Objectives:

- 1 To introduce students to the fundamentals of database management systems using MySQL.
- 2 To develop practical skills in creating, managing, and querying databases using SQL.
- 3 To enhance understanding of data modeling and relational database concepts.
- 4 To enable students to perform data manipulation and retrieval efficiently.
- 5 To prepare students for real-world applications and industry-oriented database requirements.

Detailed Report:

The Value Added Course on MySQL was conducted from 5th December 2025 to 15th December 2025, with daily sessions scheduled from 10:00 AM to 12:00 PM. The course was organized in an online mode, allowing students to participate remotely and engage in structured learning through virtual sessions. This mode provided flexibility for students while maintaining an interactive and focused learning environment.

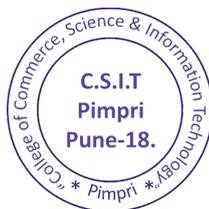

The primary objective of the course was to equip students with a strong foundation in database management systems using MySQL, one of the most widely used open-source relational databases in the IT industry. By combining theoretical explanations with practical demonstrations, the course aimed to ensure that students not only understood fundamental database concepts but also learned to apply them in real-time scenarios.

The curriculum of the course was designed to cover essential topics comprehensively. Students were introduced to basic concepts of databases, various data types, and table creation. The course also included instruction on implementing constraints, executing SQL commands across DDL (Data Definition Language), DML (Data Manipulation Language), DCL (Data Control Language), and TCL (Transaction Control Language), as well as performing joins, sub queries, and other fundamental database management techniques. Practical sessions conducted online enabled students to write and execute SQL queries, giving them hands-on experience in managing and manipulating data effectively.

The course was coordinated by Asst. Prof. Priya Janjalkar (B.Sc. CS), Asst. Prof. Amruta Joshi (B.Sc. AI/ML), Asst. Prof. Madhuri Dhavan (B.Sc. IT), and Asst. Prof. Aparna Bhamare (B.Sc. Cyber Security). The coordinators ensured the smooth planning and execution of the course, facilitating effective session delivery and encouraging active student participation throughout its duration.

Students actively engaged in online discussions, demonstrations, and practical exercises. This engagement not only enhanced their technical skills but also strengthened their logical reasoning and understanding of real-world database applications. The course successfully bridged the gap between academic learning and industry requirements, preparing students for practical challenges in database management.

In conclusion, the Value Added Course on MySQL, conducted entirely in online mode, was successfully completed and proved to be highly beneficial. It significantly strengthened students' knowledge of database management systems and SQL, thereby adding considerable value to both their academic learning and professional development.
